TOTAL TRAINING™

About Total Training

For more than 10 years, Total Training has produced award-winning online and DVD-ROM based training for leading software applications. Total Training's full product line covers comprehensive training on creative design, audio technical, web design, web development, digital photography, and office productivity programs.

Adobe's Enterprise License Agreement for Education now includes access to Total Training online product training. With more than 100 hours of training tutorials, your faculty and staff will have the tools they need to get up-to-speed quickly on the new Adobe software.

Training deployment

The online training is hosted by Total Training and can be deployed to users in one of two ways:

Single sign-on: Total Training integrates with the institution's LDAP authentication system (this option will require IT time for setup).

Individual accounts: Total Training provides unique serial codes to the institution to distribute to all users covered under the ELA.

Upon purchase of the ELA, Total Training will contact you to discuss deployment.
